

ModernMedicine Network article – Making sense of big data: Data projects spur progress

Many health systems have a hard time capturing and using data from patients that can make a real impact on their businesses. Here are some innovative projects to have on your radar.